A screenshot of a web browser window displaying a web application. The browser's address bar shows the URL "127.0.0.1:5500/htmlWITHcss.html". The page content includes a table with three columns: item name, quantity, and price. The items listed are "kaccha doodh", "ubla doodh", and "kesar doodh", each with a quantity of "1 litre" and prices of "50", "60", and "70" respectively. Below the table is a section titled "Customer Service:" which contains a form with fields for "Name:" and "Order:", a "submit" button, and a gender selection section with radio buttons for "Male", "female", and "other". Underneath the form is a large text area labeled "Comment below how was the Food:". At the bottom of the page, there is a "Short Menu" section with a dropdown menu currently showing "chicken", and an "ORDER" button. Below the menu is an "About Me:" section. The browser's taskbar at the bottom shows various icons including the Start button, search bar, and several open applications like File Explorer, VLC, and Chrome. The system tray on the right indicates the time as 09:33 PM on 30-01-2022, with weather and network status icons.

▼ About Me:

The Chartreux is a rare breed of cat from France, and is recognised by a number of registries around the world. The Chartreux is large and muscular (called cobby) with relatively short, fine-boned limbs, and very fast reflexes. They are known for their blue (silver-grey) water-resistant short hair double coats which are often slightly thick in texture (often showing "breaks" like a sheepskin) and orange- or copper-coloured eyes. Chartreux cats are also known for their "smile"; due to the structure of their heads and their tapered muzzles, they often appear to be smiling. Chartreux are exceptional hunters and are highly prized by farmers.
